ABOUT LENT James Akin

Why is Lent forty days long?

Forty days is a traditional number of discipline, devotion, and preparation in the Bible. Prior to undertaking his ministry, Jesus spent forty days in wilderness praying and fasting (Matthew 4:2). He used a forty day period of prayer and fasting to prepare for his ministry, which culminated in his death and resurrection, and thus it is fitting for Christians to imitate him with a forty day period of prayer and fasting to prepare for the celebration of his ministry's climax, Good Friday (the day of the crucifixion) and Easter Sunday (the day of the resurrection).

Which days of Lent are the days of fast and abstinence?

The first day of fast and abstinence is Ash Wednesday. In addition all Fridays during Lent are days of abstinence. Finally, Good Friday, the day on which Christ was crucified, is the last day of both fast and abstinence.

What is a day of fast and abstinence?

Under current canon law in the Western Rite of the Church, a day of fast is one on which Catholics who are eighteen to sixty years old are required to keep a limited fast. In this country, one may eat a single, normal meal and have two snacks, so long as these snacks do not add up to a second meal. Children are not required to fast, but their parents must ensure they are properly educated in the spiritual practice of fasting. Those with medical conditions requiring a greater or more regular food intake can easily be dispensed from the requirement of fasting by their pastor.

A day of abstinence is a day on which Catholics fourteen years or older are required to abstain from eating meat (under the current discipline in America, fish, eggs, milk products, and condiments or foods made using animal fat are permitted in the Western Rite of the Church, though not in the Eastern Rites.) Again, persons with special dietary needs can easily be dispensed by their pastor.

Ware appropriate activities for ordinary days during Lent?

Giving up something we enjoy for Lent, doing of physical or spiritual acts of mercy for others, prayer, fasting, abstinence, going to confession, and other acts expressing repentance in general.

Is the custom of giving up something for Lent mandatory?

No, it is not. However, it is a salutary custom, and parents or caretakers may choose to require it of their children to encourage their spiritual training, which is their prime responsibility in the raising of their children.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

Long ago, the custom of sending some pieces of consecrated bread from the Lord's table began to take hold. Originally it was a way of assuring the sick and imprisoned of their bonds of faith and affection with the community from whom they were separated. By the third century, at least in Rome, we have evidence that the bishop would consign some of the sacred elements to presbyters or deacons.

There was a crisis in the unity of the church early on, called the quartodeciman controversy, since some people wanted to celebrate the Pasch on the fourteenth day (quartodecima) of the Jewish month Nissan, even if it didn't fall on a Sunday. The debate so fractured the church that the historian of the era, Eusebius, reported a new development to the pope. He wrote that the churches holding to the Lord's Day sent out consecrated bread to the disgruntled people of the quartodeciman pastors with whom they were quarreling. Meanwhile, bishops complained about people taking the Eucharist home. St. Cyprian told a cautionary tale of a sinful woman who tried to open the "casket" containing the consecrated bread in her home. She was deterred from receiving, he said, by flames erupting from the box. Clearly, he wanted people to think twice before bringing Communion home!

The Council of Nicaea defined the "old rule of the church" as allowing for reserving the eucharistic bread for the sake of the dying. The same council could foresee circumstances of persecution when people might have the Eucharist on hand to administer to one another in a time of great danger, literally, at the point of a sword. The first and enduring purpose for reserving the Eucharist is viaticum for the dying.

Q. Do we worship the cross with the same worship as almighty God?

I'm having difficulty understanding the Good Friday service of the Adoration of the Cross. Do we worship the cross with latria or do we just venerate it? Also since the Good Friday service is called the "Adoration of the Cross" are there different degrees of "adoration"? I've always heard that the word adoration is the worship reserved for God, and the word veneration signified the reverence given to saints and sacred images and relics.

I am concerned because to me it seems that to worship the cross itself with latria is like a type of idolatry. I do not doubt the authority of the Church, instituted by Christ for our salvation.

A. If the word 'adoration' is used regarding the cross, it is used as a matter of hyperbole. It cannot be used literally with regard to anyone or anything other than God. Certainly, the cross, apart from the Lord's self-donation on it, would not be seen as anything other than an instrument of execution such as the way we look at the gas chamber or electric chair. It is only His love that has transformed the cross into the holy symbol that it is for us.
