FINDING GOD

The splendid magi, all sparkle and dash and solemnity, march right up off the pages of Matthew's Gospel and into our churches today. Matthew alone tells us this grand and seductive story so that we might see the light and know that the child these magi visited is the fulfillment of prophecy, the king of the world that stretches to the magi's home country and beyond, right down the ages to us.

We too see and understand anew. Like the magi, our patron saints for this day, we see in the newborn child the king of the universe and light of the world. Like the magi, we find in ourselves a new faith and a new life. Like them, we return to our home by a new route.

We are asked to come away from this festive season ourselves renewed and awake to the presence of God among us. We are asked to find God where God is to be found, to be attentive and surprised and ready to bow down in adoration and to offer our gifts.

Stewardship Bulletin Reflection

January 6, 2019 — Solemnity of the Epiphany of the Lord

Catholic Stewardship Consultants, Inc.

Is 60: 1-6; Ps 72: 1-2, 7-8, 10-13;
Eph 3: 2-3a, 5-6;
Mt 2: 1-12

The story of the Magi — the wise men — as recorded in the Gospel of Matthew makes several facts very clear. We often focus on the gifts that were brought as examples of stewardship, and, in truth, this story was certainly one of the inspirations for the giving that occurs at Christmas.

However, as is often the case, there is a deeper and more meaningful message found here. When they found the child Jesus, they opened their treasures and they gave "Him gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh." They did not present the gifts to His parents; they presented them directly to Him. The baby Jesus had no real need for these gifts, and we assume that Mary and Joseph used them in Christ's behalf, to support Him.

That is what we do when we give to the Church. Although our gifts need to be viewed by us as gifts to God, we also must have a trust, which includes the understanding that those who will use the gifts will use them wisely and justly. The Magi trusted that their gifts would be used in a way that was beneficial. We need to have that same kind of trust. Most of all, we need to understand the importance of giving, of being good stewards.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

Monday of this week is Christmas Day in Russia and in much of the Orthodox world. This curious difference in schedule has a lot to do with how calendars have been developed and changed over the years. In the year 45 B.C. Julius Ceasar gave the empire his Julian Calendar, with the winter solstice on January 6. This put an end to a system in which officials called "pontiffs" were able to tweak the calendar by adding extra days in as needed. He invented two new months at that time, December and January; and in order to correct the mess the pontiffs had made, forced a year of 445 days on the empire in what he named "The Last Year of Confusion." The new months varied in number of days according to a complex schedule, but the calendar was still off by nearly twelve minutes a year, and lost a full day every 130 years.

Pope Gregory XIII reformed the calendar in 1583, but not everyone appreciated his efforts. England held out for two hundred years. The year 1700 was a leap year in England, but not in France; they were eleven days apart! George Washington was really born on February 11; when the Gregorian calendar was finally adopted in the English colonies shortly before the Revolution, he had to move his birthday to February 22. Now the calendars are thirteen days apart, which accounts for Russia's Julian calendar Christmas. And Caesar thought he had brought confusion to an end!

Q. Why is "For Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever" not included in the Lord's prayer as it is taught in Catholic books and pamphlets?

Catholic Answer 0052qa

A. It's a matter of what is called textual criticism. Scholars try but they can never get exactly to what any author of Scripture originally wrote because none of the pieces of sheepskin or whatever they wrote on exist anymore. For instance, St. Paul just dictated some of his letters, which was a common practice in ancient times, so the best version we can possibly have is what his secretary thought Paul had said. Paul signed his letters but we have no certainty that he proofread them and eliminated all errors. When his letter was copied for us in churches other than the one to which he sent the letter; the chance of further errors creeping in to the text increased. Down the centuries, in this process of copying by hand, some errors would be corrected, others would be repeated. What are called families of manuscripts developed.

In the case of the passage in the sixth chapter of Matthew (where our Lord taught the Apostles the Lord's Prayer) some manuscripts included For Thine ... and others did not, according to which family they belonged. With the invention of printing, Protestant Bibles followed the family that included the words "For Thine ..." while Catholic Bible editors, upon the advice of the Catholic scholars, excluded them as being a pious comment written into the text by an early copier. Modern versions of the Bibles approved for both Protestants and Catholics leave the words out; only reprints of the King James Bible have them now. But they were beautiful words, a quotation from the First Book of Chronicles. And the Church put them into the Missal of 1963, not as an integral part of the Lord's Prayer, which was already perfect, but as a response by the people to the priest's prayer following the Lord's Prayer.
