Each October the Church in the United States celebrates Respect Life Month, and the first Sunday of October is observed as Respect Life Sunday. As Christians, we are called to cherish, defend, and protect those who are most vulnerable, from the beginning of life to its end, and every point in between. During the month of October, the Church asks us to reflect more deeply on the dignity of every human life.

Today the gift of life is threatened in countless ways. Those who are most vulnerable, rather than receiving the protection they deserve, are all too often seen as a burden and as expendable. As new attacks on human life continue to emerge, we can be tempted to despair, but Christ instead offers us unfailing hope.

This year's theme is "Christ Our Hope: In Every Season of Life."

While every season of life brings its own challenges and trials, each season also gives us new hope and new opportunities to grow in our relationship with God.

As people of faith, we know we have a future: it is not that we know the details of what awaits us, but we know in general terms that our life will not end in emptiness. For this reason, a woman experiencing a difficult pregnancy can find the strength to welcome her precious child into the world. A man facing a terminal diagnosis can see that the end of his earthly life is only the beginning of eternal life with Christ.

By virtue of Christian hope, we can face any challenge or trial. When the seas of life swell and we are battered by the waves, hope allows us to remain anchored in the heart of God. May we hold fast to

Christ our hope,
from the beginning of life to its very end.

Next Week's 2nd Collection: LIABILITY INSURANCE

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

Sometimes human relationships go awry, but Christ's choice for us is irrevocable. In marriage celebrations, the Church always recalls God's faithfulness to help prepare married couples for enduring the inevitable rough spots. The Byzantine liturgy does this by adorning the couple with crowns that remind them of the martyr's crown. The couple therefore takes on a vocation of witnessing to the sacredness of life in all of its suffering and joy, and of keeping their eyes fixed on the banquet of heaven.

In Eastern theology, people have a liturgical vocation to give God praise, and marriage fits within that plan. It is not so much saying prayers that counts, but becoming prayer. Interestingly, in this liturgy the couple never utters a word other than joining in the community's chants; there are no marriage vows as such. There is therefore not a hint of our Western Christian sense that marriage is a legal contract. Rather, it is all about living out one's baptismal vocation, embracing the cross, pouring oneself out in love, and opening to the grace of the Holy Spirit.

COME TO OUR PUBLIC SQUARE

ROSARY RALLY on Saturday, October 12 at 12 noon in front of the Church. This is the time when Rosary is being prayed simultaneously in coast to coast America for peace of the world

This year's last FATIMA APPARITION

Q. The Church never refers to "St. Moses," "St. Elijah" or "St. Isaiah." Didn't these biblical persons fulfill the Church's conditions for canonization — that is, heroic sanctity and performance of at least two miracles? Is there a Church law that restricts canonization to people who lived before Christ?

A. In the beginning, only martyrs for Christ were honored on the anniversary of their deaths. Soon, feast days for our Blessed Mother began to be observed. This gradual process of development in no way implied we should not ask Old Testament saints to intercede for us.

In fact, the Church does in various ways venerate and ask for the intercession of Old Testament saints.

In 1600 a liturgical book, the Roman Martyrology listed all the saints whom the Church had officially recognized up to that point. This listing includes large numbers of saints who do not appear in the Church's general calendar.

The Roman Martyrology remembers, among others, the following Old Testament saints: the prophet Habakkuk (Jan. 15); Isaiah (July 6); Daniel and Elias/Elijah (July 20 and 21); the seven Macabees and their mother (Aug. 17); Abraham (Oct. 9); and King David (Dec. 29).

Meanwhile, in the litanies of the saints we invoke the prayers of "all holy patriarchs and prophets," who are of course Old Testament saints. The first Eucharistic prayer also reminds us of certain outstanding Old Testament figures:

"Look with favor on these offerings and accept them as once you accepted the gifts of your servant Abel, the sacrifice of Abraham, our father in faith, and the bread and wine offered by your priest Melchizedech."

In one of the general prayers of the funeral liturgy, we pray, "Hear our prayers and command the soul of your servant N. to dwell with Abraham, your friend, and be raised at last on the great day of judgment."

Witness, for example, the number of Eastern churches named "St. Elias."

Finally, we should note that catalogs selling Catholic religious items sometimes include medals of Old Testament figures referred to as "St. David" and "St. Isaiah."
