NOVEMBER – A MONTH OF PRAYER FOR THE SOULS IN PURGATORY

By tradition, the Catholic Church dedicates each month of the year to certain devotion. In November, it is the Holy Souls in Purgatory.

What is Purgatory? It is a state in which those faithful who have died still must atone for their sins. They suffer for a time because they died guilty of venial sins, or without having satisfied for the punishment due to their sins. The time spent in Purgatory cleanses them so they may join the saints in heaven.

Our prayers and sacrifices can be offered to relieve their suffering. They are great acts of charity we can perform. A Novena Masses on behalf of the dead is a special kind of prayer because is connected to Jesus' sacrifice for them.

Also our private prayers can be very helpful. One of the most commonly recited prayers in November is "Eternal rest grant unto them, o Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them. May the souls of the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen". This is a good prayer to earn the indulgences.

Indulgences are the remission, in whole or in part, of the temporal punishment that is attached to the sins we have committed. By earning indulgences through prayer and other acts of charity, we can lessen our time in Purgatory or help those who are currently there. To obtain the plenary indulgence between November 1st and 8th we must receive Holy Communion each day and one time go to the Sacramental of Reconciliation. We must also pray for the intensions of the Holy Father (one "Our Father" and one "Hail Mary") each day we perform the work of the indulgence. Finally, we are encouraged to visit a cemetery and spend some time there praying for the dead.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

The recent "October count" tracking the statistics of participation at Sunday Mass calls to mind the situations of churches where it is difficult or impossible for Catholics to worship freely. This is especially striking in English Catholic history, as freedom of worship was systematically dismantled at the time of the Reformation. It seems that most English people retained deeply Catholic sympathies throughout the period of religious upheaval. Catholics who refused to participate in the public worship of the Church of England were called "recusants," and beginning with the reign of Elizabeth I, they were subject to strict penalties. Recusant literally means "a person refusing to obey a command." Most of those laws were in force until the early 1800s, and Catholics were not entirely emancipated from the duty of Anglican worship until 1829.

Recusants paid heavy fines for not attending the state church. Holding on to Catholic faith was therefore a luxury of the very rich, who maintained private chapels, and sent their daughters and sons to English convents and monastery schools on the continent. Remarkably, the first among all British peers, the Dukes of Norfolk, the hereditary Earls Marshal of England, have never given up their Catholic faith. Many of these wealthy recusant families founded the colony of Maryland, and later many members of the old Catholic families continued on to the Kentucky frontier in search of greater religious freedom.

Q. How can we encourage our adult children to go to Mass?

My wife and I have three adult children, ages 24, 23, and 21. None of our children attend Mass. My wife and I are very faithful and their absence is a concern. We have agreed not to mention our concern to them nor to allow ourselves the chance to lecture.

Those tired tactics of our past were never successful. We put it to prayer. I know this is a very common situation for many families, if not most. Is there another answer?

Catholic Answers apost

A. How do you expect your children to understand just how serious a matter you consider their absence from Mass if you resolve never to speak of it to them? Why do you assume that any statement of parental expectations is "lecturing"? Granted, St. Francis of Assisi is believed to have said, "Preach the gospel always; when necessary, use words," but that statement presumes that words sometimes are necessary. And it was St. Ignatius of Loyola to whom the adage is attributed, "Pray as if everything depends on God; work as if everything depends on you."

Your children are at an age when many of their contemporaries are still in some ways dependent upon their parents (e.g., health insurance, college education, assistance with living expenses). If that is the case for your children, then it is appropriate for you to explain to them that your continued material beneficence is dependent upon their meeting their Catholic obligations. If they want to be entirely independent of parental authority, then they should be prepared to be so on their own dime. (And even then, independent adult children still owe their parents the respect of listening to and considering carefully their parents' concerns for their welfare, whether or not they ultimately choose to follow through on parental advice.)

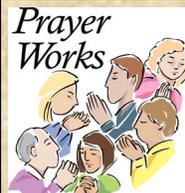

If you do not take seriously the responsibility to evangelize your own children, how could you possibly be able to evangelize anyone else (cf. Luke 16:10-12)?
