O LORD, BE MY HELP

Today we encounter readings that draw us into the mystery of suffering and death. In the past few years we have witnessed the devastation of life and property through earthquakes and hurricanes. So many lifted their lament to God, simply asking, "Why?" This is an honest expression of anger toward a God who we believe is the giver of life. When we lose a loved one, we can wonder why the presence of Christ is not enough to make that person rise, even from death, as did the little girl in today's Gospel passage. Again we raise our voices and ask, "Why?" At moments such as these, let us make the prayer of the psalmist our own: "Hear, O LORD, and have pity on me; O LORD, be my helper." Let us pray that our mourning will one day be turned into dancing.

"Your abundance at the present time should supply their needs, so that their abundance may also supply your needs." This is the fourth time in 2 Corinthians, chapter 8 that St. Paul addresses the issue of giving. What Paul is trying to explain is that the motivation for giving should be similar to God's motivation for gifting us. In the passage which constitutes today's Second Reading Paul says, "As you excel in every respect, in faith, discourse, knowledge, all earnestness, and in the love we have for you, may you excel in this gracious act also."

In the original, Paul uses the old Greek word charis to describe the giving to which he is making reference. We can probably see that the roots of that word are very much the same as the roots of the word "charity." Giving and sharing are definitely the work of God's grace in us. In fact, our motivation should be very much the same as that of the Lord. He gives to us because of Who He is, not because of what or who we are.

We, too, must give if we wish to show holiness, or to at least aspire to it. That is also what we mean when we say that we are all called to stewardship, to be good stewards. It is one thing to be faithful, but it is another to give. At times we may think there are too many collections, but it is the results of these opportunities to give which support the Church's work both locally and around the globe.

1 John 3:16-18

"This is how we know what love is: Jesus Christ laid down his life for us. And we ought to lay down our lives for our brothers and sisters. If anyone has material possessions and sees a brother or sister in need but has no pity on them, how can the love of God be in that person? Dear children, let us not love with words or speech but with actions and in truth."

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

As Independence Day draws near, we think of the men and women of the military who serve with courage and competence, some far from home. How does the Church accompany them? In 1939, Pope Pius XII created an independent jurisdiction of the Catholic Church called the "Military Vicariate." In 1985 Pope John Paul II created the "Archdiocese for Military Services, USA." Spanning the globe and serving nearly one and a half million Roman Catholics, more than one thousand priests minister in hospitals, on military bases of all the armed forces, on ships at sea, and on the battlefield. The AMS does not ordain priests, but accepts priests on loan from religious orders and dioceses.

In 1824 a Jesuit priest named Adam Marshall enlisted in the Navy and died at sea in 1825. He was assigned as a "schoolmaster," but he sought out and ministered to Catholic sailors. Twenty years later, President Polk was worried that the war with Mexico was seen as anti-Catholic, so he recruited two Jesuit priests to serve in the army as chaplains. At the time of the Civil War, only about ten percent of Americans were Catholic. Military policies forced Catholic soldiers to attend Protestant services. The Church protested this rule, and many priests volunteered to become chaplains. Their witness and the courage of the "Nuns of the Battlefield" (several orders of sisters who assisted Civil War victims) helped temper prejudice against Catholics and pave the way for the life and ministry of this vigorous and unique archdiocese.

Q "What is the meaning of verse six in the seventh chapter of St. Matthews Gospel: Do not give dogs what is holy; and do not throw your pearls before swine, lest they trample them underfoot and turn to attack you?"

A. He is warning the Apostles not to be too hasty and blunt when it comes time for them to proclaim His message. That message was so revolutionary as to sound blasphemous to devout Jews and idiotic to intellectual pagans. They were not any more likely to accept it in its fullness on first hearing than swine would appreciate a gift of pearls. Their reaction was to be so violent as to result in the death of Christ and all but one of His Apostles.

Just a few chapters further on in Matthew's Gospel, the Lord deals with the same problem in answering the Apostles when they asked why He taught in parables. He said He didn't want people to be told everything all at once—in our modern idiom, they couldn't take it. Their reaction would be only confusion and opposition.

The whole discussion is on practical means of converting people. God could certainly have made people accept everything all at once, but God's dealings are accommodated to our everyday capabilities and reactions. Our Lord used miracles, but not to overpower minds—only to persuade. So the verse you quote does not imply that the pagans are "swine" nor that lapsed Christians are to be treated like "dogs." The true teaching was understood by the early Church. The unbaptized were excluded from the Eucharist not because they were like animals in the sight of the baptized, but because such sudden association before the pagans were properly instructed in the meaning of the ceremonies would only result in ridicule from them. Ridicule and violence were the ordinary reactions of the pagans in early Rome when they first heard of the Christian belief about eating Christ's Body and drinking his Blood.

In the verses just before the one you quote, the Lord has been telling the disciples, "Judge not, that you not be judged," and not to be hypocrites (speck of sawdust in your brother's eye, a whole log in your own). Your verse should really begin, "But do not give dogs what is holy: ..." The passage leads up to the exhortation to action in verses 13 to 27. Reading it with the word but added in the proper place may clear up your difficulty.
